Subject: Gerhard Albers

Posted by: Ingrid Albers

Message: Don and Kevin

Several months ago Don kindly sent me a lot of his family information. Living relatives having an unfortunate way of taking precedent over deceased ones, I have been very remiss in answering him. However, I will try to remedy this today, and send what info I have in addition to what Don has posted. All my stuff is from a family reunion back in the 1970's, when a family tree was compiled.

I have Talka Talena Grusing (and several variant spellings of that last name) dying on 23 Dec 1903. Since the family moved to a farm near Ord that year, I assume that is where she may be buried. Child #3 I have listed as Gesian, who married Charles Severing, and I have Anna's husbands last name as Dindekugel. I am pretty sure of the spelling of Gesian, but not of Dindekugel, so if you have info that it is Lindekugel I would be glad to discover that. Mary Wilhelmina m. Charles Krauter.

Most of my info is on Frederick, the second son, as he is my direct ancestor. Frederick married Anna Wilmenia Christina Rolfsmeyer on Aug 19, 1888 in Lancaster Co, NE. She had been previously married to Julius Detrich.

He had previously been married to Minnie Koopman (Hoopman?), born in Puglingesn, Holland. She died in 1887. Anna was b. Mar 8, 1858 in Burlington Iowa and d. 25 Sep 1920 in Lancaster Co, NE. Frederick was b. 31 Aug 1854 in Oldenburg Germany and d. 15 May 1929. I will skip dates on the children for now to save space, but will send you as complete info as you want if you like. Frederick's children by Minnie were 1. William, m. Grace Englebart 2. Lena, never married, died at age 20,and 3. Edward, m. Elsie Fischer. These three were born in LaCrosse, WI. Apparently, when Minnie died, Frederick moved back to NE, where he married Anna. She had two young children by Julius Dietrich, 1. Emma Louisa Odelia m. Albert McLain and 2. Clara Elizabeth m. Reinholdt Christenson.

Children together were:

1. Lulu m. William Zikmund
2. Minnie Matilda m. Louis Axthelm
3. Julia m. Henry Benn
4. Esther Malinda m. Glen Fruide
5. Pearl m. LLloyd Mathewson
6. Arthur Frederick m. Pansy Powell (my grandparents)

A fair number of the children's children seem to have stayed in Nebraska, especially around Lincoln and Ord, with others moving to Washington and Oregon. My grandfather was the baby and the wanderer, and ended up in Missouri with the rest of us hillbillies, so I know little about his family.

I once made a trip to Lincoln for a conference during a two foot snow storm, and once the roads had cleared I drove down to Hallam. When I would mention it to people, they would say, "But that's in the country!" After driving through that flat, snowy, windy landscape I realized why they thought it was odd that I wanted to go there. I did discover a nearby town settled by Czech immigrants where the streets were empty but polka music was playing from loudspeakers mounted on light poles all over town. Very Stephen King.

If I can give further info let me know. My grandma gave me some negatives of photos of Frederick's family, but I have not yet had them developed.

Dear Ms. Lambertino:

My father, Fred E. Forsgren, was a member of the Illinois Athletic Club. If possible, I would like to have the Illinois Athletic Club magazine checked for the following:

27 December 1941	Marriage to Florence M. Hintz
09 January 1946	Birth of daughter Carol
14 February 1955	Death notice

I have enclosed a self-addressed stamped envelope and $1.00 for photocopies if you should find them. If there is an additional charge, please let me know.

Sincerely,

Carol Springer

I am sorry that I will be unable to help you. When Charlie, my brother, sold the club to the Art Institute, I donated all the Illinois Athletic Club archives to the University of Chicago. You will have to contact them.

Dear Carol,

Sorry to be so long reimbursing you for the great materials you sent on Ft. Wayne. Thought I might see you there and treat you to lunch one day, but checked the library sign-in and didn't see your name.

I had a great trip in early march and thoroughly enjoyed myself, spending 8 to 10 hours a day for a week at the library. Stayed at the Holiday Inn, which was comfortable and very adequate. The walk was not bad even though we had one or two snowy days and the streets were pretty icy. The Holiday Inn has a "relocation rate" of $45.00, which was the best I found. You kind of have to hassle 'em a little, but if they think you might stay somewhere else, they will probably give it to anyone. Don't expect they would be so generous at other times of the year. There is a great soup and salad place on one of the side streets off the main drag about two blocks back toward the Holiday Inn from the library. I would recommend it to anyone wanting a light lunch.

Thanks again for the info. It was a great help, believe me.!

Dick

Best regards,

information so vital to her via a land station – delayed, filtered, and very much second-hand.

Numerous post-war publications have stated that at 1100 hours on 26th December Admiral Bey and Captain Hintze received aboard the Scharnhorst an air reconnaissance report of 'five units far north-west of the North Cape', but did not understand its full significance because the Air Commander had expunged the important phrase 'amongst them a heavy one.' This statement (also made erroneously by the present writer in earlier publications) can no longer be substantiated after a close study of the records which have since become available.

In reality the Scharnhorst only received the BV 138's first report of 'several vessels located' after the Air Commander had forwarded this over the Luftwaffe-Navy channel at 1306 hours, when his signal was picked up at sea.

At 1341 hours the receipt of this 'highly unpleasant' report was recorded at H.Q. 'Admiral Arctic', Narvik, with the comment: 'The reference can only be to an enemy force which intends to cut off the return of our own force.'

Aboard the Scharnhorst the taking-down, deciphering and delivery of the report may well have required an hour longer. The surviving seaman Günther Sträter, already quoted, recalls that at about 1530 hours the Captain broadcast:

> Signal from the Luftwaffe. Reconnaissance plane reports enemy fleet detachment 150 miles west. Keep sharp lookout.

By this time the Scharnhorst was already heading back to Norway. For at 1224 hours, after a second attempt to approach the convoy, she had again come up against the British cruisers, and there had been another short and sharp engagement. This time it had not taken place in complete darkness, as in the morning, but in the same hazy half-light that had brought discomfiture to Admiral Kummetz and his Hipper/Lützow team a year before.*

The Scharnhorst's Chief Gunnery Officer, Lieutenant-Commander Bredenbreuker, incidentally, directed the fire of his 28-cm. [11-in.] guns almost entirely against the Norfolk, which was discernible by her muzzle flashes, whereas the Belfast and Sheffield, using a new, flashless powder, remained comparatively invisible. The Norfolk thus suffered two severe hits, one amidships, the other aft on the third turret, which was put out of action.

But the Scharnhorst herself was being straddled by the British salvoes, with range data clearly supplied by radar. The situation was so hard to assess in the confusing, hazy twilight that at 1240 hours Bey actually signalled:

> ENGAGED BY SEVERAL ENEMY SQUARE AC 4133. RADAR-DIRECTED FIRE FROM HEAVY UNIT.

The enemy were, of course, 'only' cruisers and destroyers; but Bey, in obedience to all existing orders and injunctions governing behaviour when faced by a capital ship, disengaged. Even as it was, the Scharnhorst's superiority was now only on paper. As the Fleet Commander, Admiral Schniewind, wrote in his war diary: against an enemy both navigating and firing by means of radar the German battleship had 'nothing comparable with which to counter'.

The fight for life of the Scharnhorst can be followed in detail from the signals traffic of both sides. As she sailed south-east at high speed towards the Norwegian coast, the British cruisers and destroyers had difficulty in keeping up, but retaining contact by radar, reported continuously to the unit 'DGO'. Many of these reports were monitored and deciphered by the German 'B'-Service, and so enabled the operations staffs in Kiel and Berlin to watch helplessly as the net closed in on their battleship.

At 1343 hours Admiral Bey sent a one-word order to the 4th Destroyer Flotilla: WITHDRAW! The commander, Johannesson, who had been searching for the convoy since forming his patrol line in the early morning, queried the order to gain time, only at 1418 hours to receive another short blunt command: RETURN TO BASE! The destroyers thus spent the whole day alone amidst the heaving seas, and never saw the battleship again.

At 1617 hours the British unit 'DGO' signalled that it had a radar contact with a target twenty-three miles away. The Berlin Admiralty grimly inferred:

> Since this unit has since given tactical directives to the other ships, 'DGO' is in all probability the commander of the cover force, namely the C.-in-C. Home Fleet, who has now taken charge of the battle.

Doubtless the purpose of Bey's signal was to convey that even this second alternative was ruled out by the weather. Indeed, the fact that he communicated at all could only mean that he regarded the operation as hopeless and expected to be recalled – just what Admiral Schniewind at Fleet H.Q. had postulated.

As to the signal itself, thanks to communication difficulties between the far north of Norway and Germany, it did not reach Kiel till 0219 hours – five hours after being sent – and the Admiralty in Berlin not till 0356 hours. And when it did, no one understood its purport or was able to read between the lines. In the war diary of Group North/Fleet H.Q. someone wrote:

> The reported situation was known here and at the Admiralty, and had been taken into consideration. Delayed reception of the message has had no detrimental effect . . .

At the Admiralty it was presumed 'that the task force commander would decide according to the situation whether to carry out the operation'.

As Bey waited in vain for an answer, the Scharnhorst and her five destroyers passed the navigation point 'Lucie 1' and from then on were in the open sea. Then towards midnight the signal with the Grand-Admiral's five-point directive, despatched from Berlin at 1925 hours, at last came through. The order was couched in the following words:

> 1. Enemy attempting to aggravate the difficulties of our eastern land forces in their heroic struggle by sending an important convoy of provisions and arms for Russians. We must help.
> 2. Convoy to be attacked by Scharnhorst and destroyers.
> 3. Tactical situation to be exploited skilfully and boldly. Engagement not to be broken off till full success achieved. Every advantage to be pressed. Scharnhorst's superior fire-power crucial. Her deployment therefore urgent. Destroyers to engage as suitable.
> 4. Disengage at own discretion, and automatically if heavy forces encountered.
> 5. Crews to be briefed accordingly. I am confident of your offensive spirit.
> Heil und Sieg. Dönitz, Grand-Admiral.

One of the Scharnhorst's few survivors, seaman Günther Sträter, later quoted the actual words in which the captain passed on this order to his crew. At 0345 hours Captain Hinze called all stations ar in the Arctic. Winter attacks on the arctic convoys were hindered ice, snow and the long polar night. Top: The cruiser Hipper.

entre: The destroyer Friedrich Eckoldt, lost in combat on 31st

So on Christmas Day, at 1412 hours, the Admiralty passed the order for the task force to put to sea at the appointed time for an operation against the reported convoy.

Three minutes later H.Q. Navy Group North/Fleet Command at Kiel sent the code signal: OSTFRONT 2512. And at 1527 hours 'Admiral Arctic' at Narvik added the departure time: OSTFRONT 1700 HOURS.

This signal, after being deciphered, only reached Flotilla Commander Johannesson on board his command destroyer Z 29 at 1637 hours – just twenty-three minutes before the prescribed sailing time. For the ships' commanders to discuss the details of tactical team-work there was thus no time, apart from the fact that two of the destroyers, Z 30 and Z 33, had to come all the way from the distant Kaa Fjord.

And the force commander himself was not around. Hour after hour the Scharnhorst's new skipper, Captain Fritz Hintze, waited for him.

Bey, in fact, was in process of returning from the Lang Fjord aboard the motor-minesweeper R 121 after replenishing his staff for possible action with officers and personnel of the Tirpitz, and all this had taken time.

During the trip the Admiral drafted his own provisional operational orders, which closely followed Schniewind's situation report of the night before, notably in its assumption that the best chance of success lay in using the destroyers alone, with the battleship holding herself in the background and only attacking the convoy herself 'under favourable circumstances'.

Bey was not to know that this very proposition had since been rejected by Dönitz and the Admiralty.

Finally, shortly before 1900 hours – that is, two hours behind schedule – the Scharnhorst and the destroyers weighed anchor. At the last minute a tug darted across to the departing destroyers and handed to their commanders their Admiral's orders.

Then, at 1900 hours precisely, both watches assembled on the deck of the battleship, to be addressed by the First Gunnery Officer, Lieutenant-Commander Walter Bredenbreuker. An enemy convoy, he said, had been detected by air reconnaissance headed for Russia, and the Scharnhorst was now on her way to annihilate it, to help the men fighting on the eastern front.

Bredenbreuker got no further. His speech was drowned by the cheering, which went on and on. A 'show' at last! No more hanging about with nothing to do.

At 1955 hours Z 38 (Lieutenant-Commander Gerfried Brutzer) passed the inner net barrage in the Lang Fjord, followed by the Scharnhorst, then Z 29 (Lieutenant-Commander Theodor von Mutius) and Z 34 (Lieutenant-Commander Karl Hetz). Half an hour later they left the outer barrage behind and turned into the Alten Fjord, where they were joined by Z 30 (Lieutenant-Commander Karl Heinrich Lampe) and Z 33 (Captain Erich Holtorf). Rolf Johannesson, the Flotilla Commander, had hoisted his pendant in Z 29.

Even here, still within the fjord, the gale howled in the rigging.

And even now, as the force was already putting to sea, there was a final dramatic conflict of views between the staffs of the different shore commands.

Towards 2000 hours the Fleet Commander, Admiral Schniewind, telephoned Berlin for the first time and assured Grand-Admiral Dönitz of his hopes and confidence in the success of the operation.

Hardly had he put the receiver down, than at 2009 hours he received a teleprint from Berlin carrying a personal five-point order to the task force from the Supreme Commander. Sent to the Fleet Commander for his information, it was also flashed directly to Admiral Bey aboard the Scharnhorst.

To Schniewind and his Chief of Staff, Rear-Admiral Heye, it was quite plain that Dönitz was now imposing a tactical procedure that differed greatly from the one they had previously understood was to be observed. Furthermore, the weather forecast for the operations area south-east of Bear Island was now to hand and left no room for optimism:

> Southerly gale, force 8–9, increasing, sea 6–7. On 26.12. veering to south-west 6–8, with heavy S.W. swell. Overcast with rain, visibility 3–4 miles, only intermittently improving to 10 miles. Snow-falls in Barents Sea.

'Poor destroyers!' commented Heye, and Schniewind nodded.

The thoughts of both were openly expressed by the deputy 'Admiral Arctic', Captain Rudolf Peters, in Narvik. At 1915 hours he had numerous: it is no longer confined to the landlord class. MacCartney is Scottish, being a sept of the clan Mackintosh. Two curious synonyms recorded by registrars of births are Mulhartagh (Ballyshannon area) and MacCaugherty (Newtownards area).

Among the distinguished men of the name (five find a place in Crone's Dictionary of Irish Biography), George MacArtney, 1st Earl (1735-1808), distinguished himself in the British foreign service and perhaps less so as an Irish politician – his letter books from 1768 or 1804 are preserved in the Public Record Office, Northern Ireland, and a microfilm copy of these is in the National Library; another, James MacCartney (1770-1843), was a member of the United Irishmen, but is better known as a noted surgeon.

CARUTH I have not discovered the origin of this name: it may possibly be an abbreviation of Carruthers which is a north of England surname taken from the place in Dumfriesshire, Scotland. In Ireland Caruth has been in Ulster since the seventeenth century and it appears in the Rolls for Antrim, Armagh and Donegal (1664–9) while Carruthers will be found in the Inquisition for Co. Armagh some thirty years earlier.

CASEMENT Attention has been widely drawn to Casement as an Irish name since the execution of Roger Casement (1864-1916), the most picturesque and also the most controversial of the outstanding men of 1916, and before that world-famous for his exposure of the atrocities in the Congo and Putamayo. He himself was born at Sandycove, Dublin, but the family to which he belonged was of Co. Antrim. Actually the family, though Gaelic, was Manx not Irish: they only came to Ulster from Peel in the Isle of Man in the eighteenth century. Roger Casement's father and grandfather were both named Roger Casement: the latter, who died in 1832, was a solicitor at Ballymena. They were already established as landed gentry in the previous generation: Leet's Directory (1814) lists three such. By 1878 they had extended the area of their estates greatly for in that year there were six landed families of Casement in Co. Antrim owning between them over 11,000 acres. The name Casement has never become numerous and is not found among the ordinary folk of the country. It is derived from the Norse Asmundr and in Manx was first MacAsmundr then MacCasmonde. I have met the name occasionally in early Hiberno-Norman records: Thomas MacAssemond, for example, was one of a large number of persons in Co. Cork listed in a Justiciary Roll of 1311 as taking the part of Edward II against some Norman rebels who were allied with the Irish of Leinster. The list comprises Norman and Gaelic names in about equal numbers.

(Mac) CASHIN O'CASSIN The MacCashins were hereditary physicians in Upper Ossory. The Queen's County Book of Survey and Distribution tells us that many MacCashins were 1640 Irish Papist proprietors in that county (now Co. Leix). As early as 1304 the name occurs in nearby Co. Kildare and in 1331 in north Tipperary, which also adjoins Co. Leix. The Hearth Money Rolls of 1666 indicate that it was then common in Co. Tipperary. The Hearth Money Rolls for Co. Leix are not extant, but Petty's "census" of approximately the same date found Cashins very numerous there. The most notable of the aforesaid physicians was Conly Cashin who wrote a medical tract in Latin in 1667. There are many references to the name in Carrigan's book Ossory and O'Hanlon's book Queen's County. The latter states that the Cassans of Sheffield House (Capoley) were properly de Cassagne, a family which, having left France on the Revocation of the Edict of Nantes, went to Flanders whence they came to Ireland, their ancestor being an officer in the army of William of Orange. At the end of the eighteenth century there was a notable firm of shipowners in Waterford, viz. Cashin, Wyse and Quan. This family of Cashin came from the parish of Kilshane in Co. Tipperary.

MacCashin is Mac Caisín in Irish. Woulfe states that Ó Caisín is a variant thereof, in use in the south of Ireland. An alternative theory is that Cashin should there be equated with Cashman (Ó Ciosáin: see Kissane). Every early reference I have found to the name with the O prefix relates to south Munster, as do all the sixteenth century Fiants. It is true that in a Judiciary Roll of 1295, relating that Kenedi carach O'Cassin was one of a party which slew six Englishmen (and that the official, who should have arrested them, kissed them and let them escape) the alleged crime took place in north Tipperary, but the men were apparently natives of the Clonmel area. Placenames of interest in this connexion are Ballycasheen, near Killarney, and Ballycashin in Co. Waterford. Ballycasheen, in Co. Clare near Corofin, is nearer to Connacht than to South Munster. This is not very far away from the Sodhan country with its sept of Ó Casáin (see Cussane under Kissane). To this, I suggest, the bishop John O'Cassin, who resigned the see of Killala in 1490, belonged. Map

(Mac) CASSERLEY Cassily and Cushley are noticed in Appendix I (sub Costello); another name which may be confused with them is Casserley i.e. Mac Casarlaigh which has long association with Co. Roscommon and now (without the prefix Mac) is found there and in the adjoining county of Galway. The confusion is the more likely because in Co. Roscommon some families so called spell the name without the R, viz. Casseley. Cumumhan Mac Casarlaigh is mentioned by the Four Masters as one of the Connacht chiefs slain at the battle of Athenry in 1249 and another of the name was a canon of Tuam in 1462.

MacCAUGHAN, MacCahon These two anglicized forms of Mac Eacháin are fairly numerous in Co. Antrim, but very rare outside north-east Ulster. The cognate Mag Eacháin is usually made MacGahan, which is a well known Co. Louth name: it is often written Magahan.

Woulfe says that Mac Gaoithín has also MacGahan as

Dear Janet:

I believe it's been nine years since I wrote to your library after hitting dead ends trying to piece together the Hintz, Bruhn, and (Heyman)/Hamann families. You gave me Allen Hamann's name and address, and tracked down obituaries and other tidbits in the old newspapers for me. I can't begin to say what a difference your help made and how much I still appreciate it.

I was amazed at how much research Al had done, and he has been unbelievably helpful. Because of parents' illnesses, I've had to put everything on hold for a number of years, but am finally getting started again.

Thanks to Al's information, I am now researching the Paulsen, Kock and Schwieger families. He discovered a Paulsen ancestor who had emigrated to Valparaiso—Johan Paulsen. My g-grandmother's mother died shortly after she was born, and she was raised by relatives. We doubt she ever knew her father, or that he came to Valparaiso and died seven years before she and her husband emigrated with their children.

Would you mind checking for obituaries for the following:

	Name	Born	Date of Death
00390	Johan Paulsen	30 Aug 1816	21 Oct 1873
01013	Magdalena Paulsen	Abt. 1848	?
01014	Jacob H. Paulsen	1 Jun 1849	12 Sep 1880
01015	Catherine Paulsen	21 May 1843	2 Feb 1884
01051	Louise Paulsen Kock	4 Oct 1851	?
01016	Johan H. Paulsen	3 May 1874	17 Apr 1880
01053	Anna Paulsen Schwieger	6 Apr 1858	?

Also, could you check for this lady?

00024 Lillian Hintz — Cook Co. Birth Index – Abt 1899

Lillian Hintz may remain a mystery for quite a while—she ran away from home in the 1920s to become a movie star, and supposedly no one has heard from her since.

Dear Al,

Hope this finds you well. We were so sorry we couldn't make it to the reunion. Shelley and her husband just bought a cottage up near Angola and we had to help them move some things in.

I was determined to go to the genealogical conference here this summer, and that gave me incentive to try to squeeze in some research again.

I had an encouraging find on the internet, when the IL Archives posted the IL marriage index to 1900 and it finally included Cook Co. There it was: Mrs. Mary Hintz m. Henry August Zepf on 29 Dec 1891. I wrote to the IRAD for a copy of the license, and as you can see it's barely legible in places. I do find it fascinating that Marie was 46 and Henry was only 34—can't help but think the age difference would seem even greater back then…. Henry was not listed in the Chicago directory, and they're not in the 1900 IL census or NY census, so I'll have to keep looking to see where they went.

Family tradition says they were divorced, and I found out those would be in Chancery records, so I wrote to the IRAD requesting a check for the divorce. I don't hold out much hope of getting that unless they have an index.

As for the Paulsens, I'm gearing up to tackle them next. You mentioned a Keith Paulsen of Little Rock in your letter. I looked at the online phone directory for all the Keith Paulsens and printed out the list. None were in Little Rock, but if I hit a dead end in Valparaiso, maybe I'll write to the list. ☺

I do have some sad news. My cousin Fred passed away from Non-Hodgkins lymphoma this summer. My cousins Fred and Don Hintz are the closest thing I have to brothers and it was hard on all of us losing the first cousin, especially since he was one of the younger ones.

The summer has been eventful. My mother and I dropped everything to rush to Chicago when we heard Fred was in intensive care. By the time we got there, he was doing much better and in his room, but two weeks later we were back for his funeral. He is buried in Acacia Cemetery, where my father is.

Our dog passed away unexpectedly a few hours after I left the first time for Chicago, and right after we heard Fred passed away my sister-in-law called to say her father had died.

We got through the two funerals, and my godmother called to say she was going downhill. She's always been like family and has no children of her own, so my mother and I flew down to Florida to visit for two days. Never saw the ocean, but I think we cheered her up a little and she's still with us.

Other than that, I'm still just trying to keep the two households going. Lee is still working a rotating shift with unpredictable hours, and Michael is nothing more than a blur. He took two classes in summer school in order to have time to take a Microsoft Certification class this fall. Also had an in-service job with the school system this summer working with computers and is the head webmaster for his high school. He has two part-time jobs and designs websites for companies in his "spare time". His goal is to build up the website business and drop one job. Just like a teenager, when he actually is home he's on the phone with friends and we still don't see him.

Hard to believe he'll be a senior this year and that it's time to get serious about looking at colleges. He'll be going into computer science and is considering Taylor and Purdue at the moment, but who knows.

Julie had planned to move back to Fort Wayne, but is happy with her job and school in Elkhart and can't imagine finding such an ideal situation here. She's the acting assistant principal and is working on her permanent Special Ed license and master's, also tutoring at Sylvan Learning Center and tutoring on the side. We don't see much of her these days—taking classes and teaching summer school pretty much wiped out her summer.

Shelley is the chemical engineer at the Foamex plant in Auburn now—it's closer to her home on the NW side of Ft. Wayne and is a short commute from their lake cottage. She and Larry both have to travel out of town quite a bit with their jobs, and I still don't see grandchildren in my near future.

My mother is doing fine—still wants to travel while she's able, and I'm still trying to find a block of time to go with her.

Will be sure to let you know if I make any exciting discoveries.

Take care,

Carol Springer

Dear June,

Hope this finds you well. Time has flown and I still can't seem to get out from under everything, but am determined to start dabbling in research again. For the moment, everyone seems to be holding steady here. Still can't seem to get to the library more than once in a blue moon, but thank goodness for the internet and the mailman. ☺

Speaking of which--thanks to the one of the letters you sent back in 1992 and the internet, I think I have a handle on OUR Mary Cassin, Kitty's sister!

Mary Cassin married John Mullin 1 Oct 1883 in Cook Co.

You mentioned that maybe Mary had married a Mullin. I never would've found it, except the Illinois State Archives recently put an Illinois marriage index to 1900 online, and there it was—Mary Cassin m. John Mullin October 1, 1883. I am enclosing a copy of the marriage certificate that just came in the mail from the IRAD. The copy they sent is not the best, but I think I can barely make out they were married in St. Patricks.

It's painfully slow dealing with the IRAD—can only ask a few questions at a time—so I wrote back to have them check their death index to 1938 for the Mullins. I should write to Mt. Carmel and see if they're buried there.

Mullin Children

You mentioned the four Mullin children: Nellie, Lambert, Benton, and an unknown daughter. My mother is sure Etta is the unknown daughter, and she is positive Etta married Neil Gillis. She definitely remembers the names Nellie Hanley and Etta Gillis. She said, "Nellie had light hair and was more common, and Etta had dark hair and was always dressed to the nines". I wonder if Neil was John's brother… She said Neil worked for a department store and traveled to Europe as a buyer of umbrellas, gloves and handkerchiefs. He got a job for my mother's cousin Jeanne Esper there.

Nellie Mullin Hanley and Conrad Hanley

I checked the online Social Security Death Index for Nellie and Conrad. If Nellie died in Cook Co., these were the only promising listings:

Nellie Hanley	b. 6 Sep 1888	d. Feb 1980, last benefit Cook Co.
Nellie Hanley	b. 26 Oct 1885	d. Sep 1965, issued IL bef. 1951

As for Conrad Hanley, there were three listed with residence in Cook Co.:

Conrad Hanley	b. 19 Jun 1892	d. Apr 1979, res.60629 Chicago
Conrad Hanley	b. 17 Nov 1888	d. Jun 1967, res. 60618 Chicago
Conrad Hanley	b. 9 Nov 1917	d. 24 Oct 1988, res. 60646 Chicago

Nellie's Son

My mother said Nellie Gillis' son's name was Glen. She remembers speaking to him at my grandparents' Fox Lake cottage in the mid-thirties, and thinks he might've died sometime after she married in 1941… She said he was very good looking, but very quiet.

Rinn

As for the Rinns, I found a Social Security Death listing for Catherine Rinn, Crystal Lake, died Aug 1984. The library in Crystal Lake doesn't have a film of the newspaper for that month and said I'd have to see if my library could borrow it from the State Archives. Nothing is easy. ☺ I find it almost impossible to get to the library these days. There are several listings for Willliam Rinn in the Death Index, but none from Crystal Lake. He could have died elsewhere, or he could've died in the 60s or 70s before they included all the names in the Index…

Mary Hickey Cassin

I did find something else interesting on the internet—a Coroner's Inquest index for Cook Co. That lists a Mary Cassin who died in 1877. Just got the copy of the inquest from the IRAD, and it's certainly skimpy. It says "Mary Cassin" (no age) was found on Clinton St. and died of heart disease. It also mentions a Mary Cassin, daughter. Mary Hickey Cassin would've been about 47 at the time, and daughter Mary wouldn't have been married to John Mullin yet… I broke down and ordered the death certificate from Cook Co. so I could see just how old this Mary Cassin was.

The main reason this looked so promising was that a John Cassin and Thomas Cassin are listed in the city directory as living on Clinton Street during that time….

Frederick Henry Hintz, my cousin

Sadly, I have to report my cousin Fred passed away this summer from Non-Hodgkins lymphoma. Being an only child, I've always felt that my cousins Fred and Don were as close as I could get to having brothers and it was hard to lose him. It was a big blow for us cousins to lose the first one, especially since he was one of the younger ones.

Cassin "Bud" Graham

This is just a side note, but my mother said "Bud" was a lawyer and died of a heart attack while giving a lecture at Loyola…

I went to the library last month for the first time in about a year to do a marathon obituary search in the Chicago Tribune. Couldn't find Kitty, Cassin Graham, and a whole list of others. That was discouraging, but maybe they were in the Daily News?

Capt. John J. Cassin

It's amazing what you can stumble over on the internet. While looking up Cassin in NY, I came across this obituary from the Buffalo News, September 10, 1996:

GERAULD F. WHEELER, FORMER OWNER OF RESTAURANT

Wheeler, 85, died Sept. 3, 1996 at his home in Greenwood, Ind. He was born in Elmira and had lived in this area for many years. Wheeler was a veteran of World War II and had served in the U.S. Navy. In addiiton to owning the Lewiston Restaurant, he also had worked for 16 years at Niagra Junction and had been employed as a carpenter with the Buffalo Local of the Carpenters Union. He was an avid golfer and bowler and also enjoyed fishing. He was a fan of the Buffalo bills. Wheeler is survived by his wife, the former Joan Pay of Greenwood, a daughter, CAROLYN CASSIN of Greenwood, a brother, Robert of Clarksville, Tenn.; three grandchildren, and a great-grandchild.

I checked the online telephone listings and found a John J. Cassin living in Greenwood, Ind. Since Wheeler lived in Buffalo—and our Cassins are the only ones I've ever found living there—it appears Carolyn Wheeler married John J. Cassin (b. abt 1940), son of John Angus Cassin (23 Mar 1913-1 Jan 1995), son of the Captain.

Hate to overwhelm you with all this, but thought I'd better write while things were fresh in my mind.

According to the Relationship feature of my software, we're third cousins. Hopefully I've got this right:

Catherine Cassin m(1). George Gordon Peck 15 May 1879, d. 1925. George d. 1900 in Stockton, CA. Catherine m(2). James Carroll.

Francis Elizabeth Peck b. 1882 Clinton IA m. __________

________ m. ________ Adams

June Adams m. ________ Lane 9 May 1942 Chicago

If you get a chance, maybe you could help me fill in the blanks. And I'll let you know if I pin down definite birth and death dates for Nellie and Conrad or the other Mullins.

Take care,

Dear Al,

Poor Sue! I remember spraining my ankle, and it was the most painful thing I've ever gone through—can't imagine a torn tendon!! Hope has a speedy recovery.

You've had quite a summer yourself! I can only imagine what you've been going through emptying Sue's parents' house and delivering things. I don't even want to think of having to empty my mom's house.

It was so nice meeting Larry at the conference, especially since I could praise the library in person. I told him how helpful Janet had been, and everyone around was amazed I remembered her name so readily years later. Little does he know I'll never forget Janet and how helpful she was. Of all the people in archives and libraries, county clerks, etc. I've written to over the years, some were very helpful, but Janet is far and away the best. And, of course, I told him thanks to Janet, I met you—and words can't describe my thanks to you!

As for Billy Nuppnau, I don't know a birthdate. Dora Bruhn was born in 1876, so he must have been close to her age—more like the father of the Heinrich Wilhelm you found. My mother said Billy wanted to elope when they were young, but Dora said her parents wouldn't approve. (She said the Bruhns took in roomers—professors and students--and Dora was not allowed to associate with them. Maybe Billy was a student; or since the Nuppnaus were there since 1820, maybe there was some reason they didn't care for him/his family.) It is interesting to note that none of Claus and Sophie's children married. Johan and Claudie died too young, but Anna was already 22 when she died…

Supposedly Billy became a banker. He married once, his wife died, he married again but said he would leave his wife for Dora. She refused, saying it wouldn't be fair to his wife, esp. since she was blind. My mother believes when Dora was in the hospital the last time, Billy was also there and died not long after she did. So that would've been ca. 1956.

I decided to send group sheets for everyone from Henry and Marie down for good measure, since I think I have more information on John and Emma's families and my cousins', also a wedding for one cousin's son (Johnathon Poprawski) the weekend Fred died. In my own family, Shelley is the only one who's married, with no grandchildren on the horizon at this point. As I was looking things over, I realized I don't have information on your family since John Hamann and Matilda Hornfield.

And looking over my cousins' information reminds me I have to start nagging again to fill in the gaps. Everyone really appreciates hearing about the ancestors, but they don't realize the importance of their own information.

JOHN HINTZ, s/o Henry and Marie Paulsen Hintz

> HINTZ, Lillian. I have searched hither and yon trying to locate Lillian. She appears in the 1920 census living with her parents in Chicago. Not long after that, the family moved to California. Whether or not she went with them remains a mystery. She was 21 in the 1920 census and left home sometime after that to become a "star". My mother said there was a studio in Chicago, so she just may have stayed behind.
> I searched the online CA death index for any "Lillian" whose father's last name was Hintz, to no avail. She doesn't appear in the 1920s Chicago directories, and I'm not aware of a public IL marriage index for after 1900. Her sister, Dorothy Hintz, Hagen, is 90 now and has never been willing to talk about her.
> I am trying to get a copy of the obituaries for Lillian's and Dorothy's parents, John H. and Sidonie Hintz, to see if Lillian is mentioned as a survivor. Sidonie died in 1959 and John in 1965, so chances are she was still living then—but after she left home, John said he no longer had a daughter named Lillian…
> HINTZ, Adolph: Adolph supposedly has two children, and I am trying to track down an obituary for him, then his wife. My mother has talked to Dorothy a few times, but all she said was that Adolph had two children…
> HAGEN, Dorothy Hintz
> > HAGEN, Richard and Donald: I know Richard was married, and I believe both he and Donald have children. I have gently asked Dorothy for their information in the past; she has written a few times, but never answered about the boys. I did find both their birthdates online and found Donald's marriage record on the CA marriage index microfiche at the library. The index I checked only goes to 1969, and Richard was probably married after that.

Can't think of anything else right now. I'll be sure to let you know when I find out more about Adolph's family or Lillian…

Sincerely,

Carol

Dear Florence:

I presume you were formerly Florence Hintz. I appreciate your Xmas Card. Unfortunatley Vernetta is no longer with us, she passed away on Valantine Day, Feb. 14, 1980. It hasn't been the same since! You must have had a very Merry Xmas with 3 children there with you. They certainly make Xmas. I'm sorry about your eyes.

I didn't know that Vernette Esper had passed away. I've heard from her at least once a year. She apparently liked it in California.

Kay, my oldest daughter, is in Sao Paulo, Brazil. Been there many years, has 2 sons & 1 girl.

Vicky, my middle daughter, is living in Okla. City. Has 1 - 16 yr old son. She is in Hospital from car accident. Been in hospital 2 mo. and has 1 more to go.

Terri, my baby daughter, is married & living here in Dallas. After her Masters Degree in Therapy. ~~Well the~~ I have had Heart Surgery & 2 Strokes Find it hard to get around. Didn't you use to live in San Francisco?

John
